When we boost we use a whiper or a very gentle tone, but when we knock we always want a large-sized megaphone.

The poor will do much for money, the rich will do anything for more money.

Twenty-four men lost their lives through the explosion of a fire-damp in a coal mine in Alsace, France.

The forecast of further advances in the price of crude petroleum is contained in a review of field conditions.

Officials of the Consolidation Coal Company announce shipments over the new extension of the L. & N. with terminus at McRoberts began yesterday.

T. L. Ewan & Co., sold for George Parry 116 acres of the Parry farm near North Fort Bridge, on Lexington pike, to Frank Eitel. Terms private.

Sunday President-elect Wilson attended the oldest Presbyterian Church in Hamilton, Bermuda, and also attended the session of Parliament Monday.

Mrs. Lowry Orr, who recently underwent a surgical operation at Wilson Hospital, is now at the home of her sister, Mrs. Preston Wells of West Second street.

The active movement in the steel trade is said to be world wide, and finished products command higher prices in the international than in the home market.

The residences of Grant White near Hartsville, was destroyed by fire, together with some of the household effects. The loss was about $2,000; insurance $600.

According to the opinion of a Louisville expert, who has inspected crops in all districts, light weight and good quality insure high prices for Kentucky tobacco.

The Government will build eight new steel steamboats of various types for use on the Mississippi.

The Keystone State is doing a big business in the St. Louis and Illinois river trade. She has not been able to move the freight offered her.

The Queen City will have new chimneys with fancy tops like she had on the first came out. All pipes on the roof with the exception of the chimneys are being painted snow white by John Robinson and force.

ENDORSED AT HOME

SUCH PROOFS AS THIS SHOULD CONVINCE ANY MAYSVILLE CITIZEN

The public endorsement of a local citizen is the best proof that can be produced. None better, none stronger can be had. When a man comes forward and testifies to his fellow citizens, addresses his friends and neighbors, you may be sure he is thoroughly convinced or he would not do so. Telling one's experience is not for the public good is an act of address that should be appreciated. The following statement given by a resident of Maysville adds one more to the many cases of Home remedies which are being published about the Kidney Pills. Read it.

John E. Burns, Maysville, Ky., says: testimonial I gave in 1908, when I recommended Doan's Kidney Pills still stand. I know that this remedy is just as good as it has been used by one of my with satisfactory results. This statement obtained at Wood & Son's Drug Store.

Railroads Compelled to Keep Look-outs Says Court of Appeals

C. & O. Railway Company vs. Warnock's Admr.—Decided October 18th, 1912. Appeal from Greenup Circuit Court. Opinion of the court by Judge Miller, reversing.

First—Railroads—Trespasser on Track—Rule as to Duty Owed by Railroad.—A railroad company ordinarily owes no duty to a trespasser until his peril is discovered, and is not liable for any injury to him, unless, after his peril is discovered, the injury could have been avoided with proper care. This rule has been applied in all cases where the injury occurred in the country, but in cities and towns where the population is dense and the danger to life is great, a different rule is applied, and in such localities the speed of the train should be moderated, notice of its approach given, a lookout maintained, and such precaution taken as the circumstances demand for the proper security of human life.

Second—Railroads—Exercise of Care by Travelers—Question for Jury—Whether a traveler exercises such care as may be ordinarily expected of the common run of persons, is a question depending on a number of circumstances, to each of which different men may give different weight, and is a matter peculiarly for the jury.

Third—Railroads—Lookout—Rule requiring Servants to Keep.—In order for a plaintiff to bring his case within the rule that requires the servants of a railroad company to keep a lookout, and give timely signals and warnings of the approach of its trains, it is incumbent upon the injured person to show that the place of the accident was a place where the presence of persons on the track was to be expected, and that fact may be shown by the extent of the use made by the public of the crossing at the scene of the accident.

Fourth—Railroads—Signals and Warnings of Approach of Trains—Unincorporated Towns.—It is the duty of a railroad to give timely signals and warnings regardless of the fact that the crossing is in an unincorporated town, if the crossing is a public one, where the presence of persons on the track may be expected or anticipated.

Fifth—Railroads—Signals and Warnings—Knowledge of Approach of Train.—The object of signals of approach of the train is to notify persons of its coming, and if a person, in fact, knows of the approach of a train, he cannot complain that signals of its approach were not given as required by law.

Worthington, Cochran & Browning for appellant; S. S. Willis for appellee.

He Knew—He Had Fed Cattle. The old trustee turned to the visitor and asked, "Well, what do you think of our new consolidated school?"

"Beautiful! Cost a lot of money, didn't it?" "Yep, an' it costs like smoke to run it with teachers for all the different grades. But all of us are for it now."

"Were you against consolidation?" "Yep, I was against it strong. You see, I got the three R's in a single room schoolhouse." He paused, looked at the splendid brick building and continued: "I oughter known better too. Anybody that had fed cattle for thirty years oughter know a consolidated school was better than a one room school."

"Why should you have known? Cattle and children, are not the same." "Look here—just stop an' think for a minute, will you? I've known for thirty years that you can't put weanling calves, two year an' four year of calves, in the same feed lot an' get fast class results. In our old time one room school we had 'em all sizes an' ages in the same lot an' feedin' out of the same trough. It won't work any better with children than it does with cattle."

A school tax is simply a long time investment in brains; therefore the eternal question should not be "HOW SMALL A TAX CAN WE GET ALONG WITH?" but "HOW MUCH CAN WE INVEST TO ADVANCE?" It is a business proposition pure and simple.

CLARENCE MATHEWS, P. M.

Painting and Grapefruit. "You say that teacher wants you to get some paint an' a paint brush, Bobby?" exclaimed a farmer.

"Yes, sir, to paint pictures with," answered his eight-year-old hopeful.

"Do you know when I went to school I had lots of old blue back spellers an' hickory leaf an' no frills or fur-bellows. I reckon I'll have to get 'em for you, but it looks like a plumb waste of time, this paintin' of pictures."

His good wife smiled behind her glasses and kept on sewing. Some time later, when Bobby was fast asleep, she softly asked the man enveloped in the blue haze of White Burley, "Rob, what did you get when you were in town this afternoon?"

"Why, I got those repairs for the shredder that had come by express, an' I saw some nice grapefruit an' oranges an' brought a few along. Why?"

"What was the use of bringin' them home? You know we had plenty of bacon, potatoes, locust an' coffee in the pantry, didn't you?"

Gradually the man struggled out of the smoke long enough to exclaim: "One reason I got 'em was to please you. Great Scott, don't you ever get worked out, tired to death of fat meat an' coffee, woman?"

"Of course I do, an' I like grapefruit an' all kinds of odds an' ends to give me an appetite for the plain, substantial things. But," and a pleasant, mischievous smile spread over her soft, motherly face, "you an' I were raised on fat meat, coffee an' lots of hickory leaf, weren't we, Rob?"

For a moment the man's face wore a puzzled look. Suddenly his face cleared, and he laughed heartily and said: "I reckon I was kinder hard on Bobby just now. You are right—things are different now, an' they're a lot better than they used to be. I see what you are drivin' at, mother. Yes, the teacher wants to use the paintin' like a kinder relish or side dish to keep up their appetite for the rest of the everyday school grub."

The natural resources of any country are limited. The only resource that is without a limit is human brains.

MRS. LARAMORE TELLS TROUBLES

Lady in Goodwater Describes Her Distressing Experience and Tells How She Was Finally Relieved.

Goodwater, Mo.—"Ever since I was a little girl," says Mrs. Riley Laramore, "I was a great sufferer from dyspepsia. I suffered misery after eating, and had terrible heartburn."

I thought I had to suffer this way as long as I lived, but when I began to take Theodor's Black-Draught, in small doses, every night, the heartburn was all gone in a few days, and I could eat without distress."

I took two small packages in all, and although that was some time ago, the dyspepsia has not returned."

I speak a good word for Theodor's Black-Draught whenever I have the opportunity."

If eating causes distress, we urge you to try Theodor's Black-Draught. It cleanses the system, helps the stomach to digest its food, regulates the bowels, and stimulates the liver.

It acts gently and is without bad after-effects. Try it. Price 25c.
